Michael Jenkins is a partner in the municipal law firm of Jenkins & Hogin.

He currently serves as City Attorney for the cities of Hermosa Beach, Rolling Hills and West Hollywood, as General Counsel to the Los Angeles County West Vector Control District and the San Gabriel Valley Mosquito and Vector Control District, as General Counsel to the South Bay Cities Council of Governments and the Westside Cities Council of Governments, and as special counsel for numerous municipalities around the State.

Michael served as President (1993) and Director (2005-2007) of the City Attorneys Department of the League of California Cities (1993), served as co-editor of the original version of the League's Municipal Law Handbook, served as editor of Open & Public III and IV, and is chair of the League's Brown Act Committee. Michael also served as President of the City Attorneys Association of Los Angeles County and Member of the Executive Committee of the Public Law Section of the State Bar (and Editor of the Section Newsletter). For the past thirty-one years he has taught local government law at the University of Southern California Law Center and is a frequent lecturer on municipal law subjects and author of training programs and exercises for municipal lawyers and elected officials.

Michael is an honors graduate of Haverford College and Duke University School of Law, where he served as Executive Editor of the Duke Law Journal.
